

As service visits have become complicated we'd like to introduce a completely new service offer to you:

Online Training for your workforce

Would you like basic machine training for your employees or do you have specific topics or questions regarding technical matters? Via an online connection our technical customer service is there to help and support you based on your individual needs.

Online training helps to improve and optimize your operation and manpower. Technical issues can be solved in a practical way.

General conditions and requirements:

- Presentation of your major technical issues at least seven days in advance. Additional or further questions during the online training itself are possible at any time!
- Online Training via "TeamViewer meeting"
- Stable internet connection

Satisfied customer feedback:

„Thanks a lot for your explanations! We have seen that we can improve a lot of different things!”

„The training was very constructive!”

„We are now aware of specific parameters that should not be changed.”

„The training made it possible for my colleague to discover several (new) operating points of the PHS machine!”
